Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method initiates secure sessions without occupying a process on the server until the premaster key is received from the client.